

Brentwood, located in scenic Williamson County, is considered one of the most desirable suburban locations in Tennessee. This affluent community is home to country music stars and athletes and some of the most gorgeous homes in the area.

The Neighborhood

Just a short 10-minute drive from Nashville and access to three major interstates, Brentwood's rolling hills are home to many Fortune 500 companies located both in Maryland Farms and Cool Springs, although you wouldn't know it given the large number of lush green parks and nature areas the city boasts. Located in Williamson County, one of the wealthiest and fastest-growing counties in the state, Brentwood is home to award-winning schools that receive some of the highest ratings in the state and excellent government services.

The Market

Housing in Brentwood maintains steady appreciation and has one of the highest median home prices in Tennessee. You'll find luxury subdivisions and estate homes with a fair amount of townhomes and condos.

The Lifestyle

Brentwood offers a high quality of life, strong business community, and a growing assortment of recreational amenities. With its 13 parks, there is no shortage of walking and running trails for the outdoor enthusiast.
